

Shawanaree Lee, DO, FACOOG, is a 1999 graduate of OSU-COM and completed her internship and residency in OB/GYN Surgery at Tulsa Regional Medical Center in 2004. From that time she has been in private practice in Oklahoma first in Yukon at Canadian Valley Regional Medical Center from 2004-2015 and then joined Dr.'s David Kallenberger and Eli Reshef in their practice at Baptist Medical Center in OKC.

While in Yukon Dr. Lee served as a board member for the hospital for 4 years and was a member of the EPIC EMR consulting and implementation team for BMC in 2017. She has also served as adjunct faculty and preceptor for the APRN program at Oklahoma City University and specializes in general women's health and office gynecology as well as having an obstetrical and surgical practice.

She has 2 children still at home and her oldest daughter is completing her second year of medical school at A.T. Still University in Kirksville, MO. Dr. Lee is also perimenopausal herself so she has some authority to speak on this subject.
