

Kelsi Batioja is a third-year medical student at Oklahoma State University College of Osteopathic Medicine at the Cherokee Nation in Tahlequah, OK. She grew up in Wagoner and is currently interested in Internal Medicine and OBGYN but is still deciding which field of medicine to pursue.